

Education in Canada

A World of Possibilities Awaits

Government of Canada Scholarships

www.scholarships.gc.ca

The Government of Canada invests in its students and researchers in order to promote innovation, to foster research collaboration across the world and to attract renowned searchers to choose Canada as the destination for their post-doctoral studies. Canadian governments, non-profit and international organizations offer a number scholarships and grants to international students who want to study in Canadian colleges, universities and institutes.

Aside from Government of Canada funded scholarship programs, there are many scholarships available for international students directly from Canadian institutions. Scholarships and financial aid are generally based on academic merit.
